Enactment of Shipping Bill Urged by President To Save Merchant Marine

Only Means of Relieving "Staggering Losses," He Tells Congress.

COST $20,000,000 YEAR

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Four representatives of the Department of Labor were ordered yesterday to the blimminous coal fields in Somerset county, Pennsylvania, where many workers still are on strike. The orders went out from the department after a delegation representing the strikers had called here.

This delegation headed by James Mark, vice-president of District No. 2 of the United Mine Workers, called also at the White House, to ask President Harding to call a conference of spokesmen for the strikers and operators in Washington with a view to ending the strike. They were unable to see the executive but said they would return tomorrow.

Personally addressing a joint session of the House and Senate the executive declared an actual monetary saving to the government would result from the proposed law. He challenged every justification of favored interests and enriching of the special few at the expense of the public treasury. The legislation, he asserted, automatically guarded against enactment of exceptional bowdaws.

"It now attends, as we hope it will," he added, "the government outlay in reducing the inspiration of opportunity, the sea remains, and American transportation by sea is maintained."

The president said concern about the American merchant marine policy was not limited to "our own domain," adding the maritime nations of the world were "in complete accord with the opposition here to the pending measure." He declared those nations had a perfect right to such an attitude but that he wished to stress the American viewpoint, which, he said, should be the viewpoint from which "one sees American carriers at sea, the dependence of American commerce, and American vessels for American reliance in the event of war."

Mr. Harding declared it would be most encouraging if a measure of such transcending national importance must have its fate depend on geographical, occupational, professional or partisan objections. A commercial eminence in the seaports and staple agencies for the promotion or carrying of American commerce, he asserted, were of no less importance to the people of the Mississippi and Missouri valley, the great Northwest and the Rocky Mountain states than to the seaport states and industrial communities inland.

"It is a common cause with its benefits commonly shared," said he. "If government aid is a fair form to apply to authorizations aggregating $5,000,000 to promote good roads for market highways; then it is equally to be applied to the establishment and maintenance of American market highways on the 'salted seas' he continued.

As to present government operation of the Shipping Board fleet, Mr. Harding said there was the unavoidable task of writing out a $50,000,000 annual loss and losses aggregating "many hundreds of millions" in worn-out and scrapped shipping. He called attention to the fact that government ships were being worn out without any provision for replacement, and that a program of surrender and sacrifice and the liquidation which he declared would be inevitable unless the proposed legislation were enacted would cost scores of millions. The cost of the proposed legislation at the January meeting, a drive for a membership of 100 will be launched, the plan being to affiliate with the state organization.

WIDOWHOOD DOES NOT MOVE COURT IN LIQUOR CASE

Mrs. Sarah Stull, of Dunbar Fined, Given Jail Term, Warned.

COMPLAINTS ABOUT HER

Lesser Penalty Imposed on Alicea Woman Who Tells Court She Made Moonshine for Boarders Who Furnished the Still; Others Sentenced.

The fact that she is a widow, with five children, did not save Mrs. Sarah Stull of near Dunbar when she was called for sentence in court in Uniontown this morning on a charge of violation of the Weller Act. Judge E. H. Repert sentenced her to a fine of $200 and a term of six months in jail, with a stipulation that if fine and costs are paid she will be paroled at the expiration of three months.

The court advised the prisoner that if she appeared before him again on a liquor charge she would get a "considerably longer" term.

Assistant District Attorney Davis W. Henderson told the court there had been numerous complaints regarding Mrs. Stull who said she had "up the hollow" from Dunbar.

Mrs. Barbara Lasko of Alicea, a widow, escaped with a lighter sentence. She was fined $100 and paroled for year. A 10-gallon still was found by the officers at her boarding house. She said boarders furnished the still and she made the moonshine.

Thomas Godden of Maxwell was fined $100 and placed on parole for a year. A 10-gallon still was found in his home.

Fines of $100 were imposed on Steve Korick of Alicea, Mike Kernal of York Run, Paul Santosky, yard boss at York Run, and Joseph Walker of Uniontown. Walker was arrested with 14 bottles of Jamaica ginger and a revolver. He said he got the liquor "from a man down the river."

W. J. Grennolds of Cheat Haven said he went to New Salem to trade an automobile and bought some liquor for his own use. He was arrested with it on him. The court fined him $100 and placed him on parole for a year.

First Flakes of Snow Seen Here

Following closely on the heels of the fine weather Sunday, a cold snap is now gripping the region without any promise of relief from the weatherman. The thermometer recorded 44 degrees as the highest mark reached yesterday and fell to 32 degrees, the freezing point, during the night.

This morning the temperature was only 40 degrees and there were no indications it would become warmer during the day. A stiff wind prevailed yesterday and last night, making the cold more pronounced. At times there were a few snow flurries to be seen, but there was not a sufficient quantity to cover the ground.

NEW WITNESS IN INVESTIGATION OF HALL-MILLS CASE

Detectives Feel George Sipel Will Be Able to Bolster Evidence.

SUPPORT OF "PIG WOMAN"

By Associated Press.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 21.—As the Somerset county grand jury—21 men and three women—prepared to-day for its second session on the mass of evidence surrounding the Hall-Mills murder, the name of a new witness appeared among those upon whom the prosecution pinned its hope for indictment. The name was that of George Sipel, a dealer in pigs, whose movements on the fatal night of September 14 have caused detectives to bring him forward as the most likely corroborator of the tale of Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "pig woman."

The overflow from a septic tank is clear as crystal, so to speak, and is declared to be chemically pure. In other words the chemical action in the tank changes the sewage into pure water.

In The Courier's mail this morning came an article from the Fayette County Farm Bureau dealing with septic tanks for farm use. The advice is as readily applicable to city residents. The article follows:

"It takes about 10 minutes for a good compost mill to turn over the material required in the making of the average farm size tank, which creates times taken from 5 to 10 years for a person to entirely recover from the ill-effects of a serious case of typhoid fever. One case of typhoid might easily pay for the building and installing of a tank and all the necessary plumbing. The tank very often costs less than the unsanitary cesspool that it replaces."

"Sixteen bags of cement and a few loads of clean sand and gravel make up the material needed for a septic tank that is simple to construct, easy to clean, economical in first cost, and, above all, sanitary. A form is required in the construction of such a tank, the specifications of which can be obtained from the Fayette County Farm Bureau. In Fayette county, the interest in sanitary house drainage has caused the farm bureau to have a standard form made which is available to the farmers of the county who wish to build tanks."

"On Thursday of Farmers' Week, December 12, at the Pennsylvania State College, a demonstration showing how the form is put together and how a tank may be made at the least cost will be given for the benefit of those who are interested in sewage disposal. The septic tank, far from being an uncertain experiment, has shown its value conclusively in many states, and in Pennsylvania, farm folks are taking an increasing interest in this method of sewage disposal."

Before Connell constructs a sewer system of any magnitude for any other part of the city it will give its attention to Snyder town, members said. Plans for the Snyder town system provided for an estimated expenditure of $12,000, which will probably be included in next year's budget. Other projects are expected to increase the total for the year to $15,000.

Four shots were fired and, according to the police, Dean said when arrested that he regretted he had "not let all six go."

Mr. Hunt, the police said, took a pistol from Dean after the shooting. It had not been fired. Another pistol with four empty shells was found under a dayport.

Youth Shot and Killed, His Body and Girl Friend Are Thrown Over Cliff by Negro

By Associated Press.

WAHOO, Tex., Nov. 21.—Grady Skipworth, 19 years old, was shot and killed and his young woman companion attacked last night near Lovre Lap on the Bosque river, near Waco. The couple were riding in an automobile.

Skipworth was shot at close range. The young woman, who physicians say was "treated roughly," is in a hospital.

According to reports to the police the assailant, a negro, held up the automobile and, after robbing Skipworth, shot him and threw his body over a 30-foot cliff. The negro afterward threw the girl over the cliff. The tragedy occurred about 9 o'clock last night and the girl made her way home at 10:30 this morning. The negro escaped in the automobile.

Excitement is running high here. The crime corresponds in detail to the killing of Sid Bolton, a prominent young man in this community and the assault on a girl companion several months ago. A negro charged with the crime was shot and killed by the girl's father following his arrest. A negro burned the body.

Septic Tank Proposed In Council for Section Of City Lacking Sewers

Solons Unable to Add to Usual Sanitary Projects Now in Hand.

FIGURES TO BE SECURED

Resort to the use of septic tanks in lieu of sewer lines leading to the trunk lines in sections of the city remote from the trunk was proposed at a meeting of City Council Monday night by Councilman James Wardley, who said the plan has been successfully tried in many communities. The suggestion was made when it became apparent that Council could not at this time see where it will get the money for a line leading from half a dozen houses in Woodlawn avenue to the Arch street main, a distance of 627 feet, at an estimated cost of $2,100.

Mr. Wardley said he would write for prices on septic tanks and Clark Harry G. Mason was instructed to also secure figures.

One septic tank may be used for as many as 10 houses, Councilman Jesse A. Cypher said. They are also made for individual houses. Its quoted price of $78.62 for a single house type which he knew.

FURS MATCH WINTER OUTFIT

Furries Promises to Be More Fashionable This Season; Cheaper Materials in Demand.

Furs bid fair to be more fashionable than ever this winter and it is not necessarily the costly pelt that will claim Dame Fashion's favor, according to a fashion authority in the New York Tribune. Even the bushels of animals, not excepting the alley cats, have been called upon to give up their hides to satisfy the demand.

Owing to the use of cheap furs, there are many dyed effects. One of the chic things will be to use a fur that exactly matches in color the fabric of the garment which it adorns; thus cat, rabbit, hare and squirrel furs are being dyed in beige, gray and brown tones to match materials. Caracal, one of the more expensive furs, is also being dyed in these fabric tones.

In addition to these sporty, so-called inexpensive furs, which are frankly what they are, there are many imitations of mink, chinchilla, seal and beaver. There are the Japanese mink, Cambodian mink and marten, all of which approach real mink in appearance. There are koikidzuki and the blended marten, which imitate sable. There are chinchilla rat, vischetta, the Australian opossum and the petite gris, all trying to counterfeit the costly and rare chinchilla of the Andes.

Then there is always the Hudson seal, which now is more popular than the real Alaska and practically as expensive, with its train of counterfeits—electric seal, dyed rabbit and pussy cats. Beaver and nutria will both be greatly in vogue. In white furs there are many imitations of royal ermine.

Mean Man.

Mrs. N. Parker came bursting in to see her new neighbor, and found Mr. Jones reclining in an armchair. "Well, Mr. Jones, and what's Mrs. Jones doing?"

Mr. Jones cracked his pipe with evident enjoyment.

"Ah, poor soul, she's dying!"

Mrs. Parker was horrified.

"What? You brutal! Why don't you do something?"

Just at that moment Mrs. Jones walked in.

Mrs. Parker spluttered:

"But—but you said she was dying!"

"Yes," said Jones quietly. "So she is—to see you mind your own business."

You can verify Connellsburg endorsement. Read this:

J. H. Lenhart, carpenter, 412 High Ave., Connellsburg, says: "My work has seemed to be very hard on my back and kidneys. At different times I have got a lameness in my back and a soreness across my hips and through my loins. It was very troublesome for me to get around. At the same time my kidneys would act irregularly and the secretions would become highly colored and unnatural. A spell like this was always relieved promptly by Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at Clarke's Drug Store. They quickly removed the backache and regulated my kidneys. I think Doan's are a mighty fine remedy for these ailments."

GIRL NOW WELL AND STRONG

Daughter Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as Mother Advised

WAISON, Ohio.—"My daughter always had backache and leg-ache at certain periods and could not be on her feet at those times. We read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and gave it much good advice. She began to take it. That is two years ago and she is a different girl since then to do any work she wants to do—although she is still careful not to do heavy work—and so well and strong. We recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers with young daughters and give you permission to publish this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. A. M.

Syrup Pepsin Loved By Hosts of Babies

Half a teaspoonful will make a frail youngster happy and playful.

THE mother has her choice of many remedies for her baby's minor ills, but she should be careful which remedy she selects lest she do the child harm. What might be safe for one infant may not be for another. You must first find out if the little one cries and doesn't want to play that its bowels are constipated. First look carefully to the diet and give the child one-half teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a compound of Pepsin and senna and is painless to administer.

The ingredients are stated on the package. It is a mild, gentle vegetable laxative that everyone finds effective and pleasant.

It is better for you and yours than purgatives, coal-tar drugs, or salt

waters and powders, which may concentrate the blood and dry up the skin; or mercurial calomel, which may salivate and loosen the teeth.

Use a safe laxative like Syrup Pepsin and especially for the children, for invalids, growing girls, nursing mothers, elderly people, and persons recently operated upon who need bowel action with the least strain. Mrs. Lillian Brannington of Woodruff, S. C., always gives her children Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and Mrs. A. E. Blodgett of Muskegon, Mich., will not have any other laxative in her home. Your druggist will supply you, and it only costs a cent a dose. Try it in constipation, colic, biliousness, flatulence, hiccups, and to break up fevers and colds.

DISCRIMINATING AGAINST COKE REGION STRIKERS.

In the recent abandonment of the strike in the Mingo, W. Va., coal field the national policy committee of the United Mine Workers has established a precedent it would be the part of wisdom and justice to the men still on strike in the Connellsville region to apply here.

Between the two strikes there are some resemblances as well as differences. The Mingo strike was directed against a proposed reduction in wages. The walkout in the Connellsville coke region was purely sympathetic, inaugurated as part of the plan to stop entirely the production of coal in all fields as a means of forcing the operators to concede the demands of the miners in the unionized districts.

The Mingo field was partially organized before the strike was declared in the Connellsville region. The bulk of the local unions were formed after the strike had been in effect for several weeks. In both regions only a portion of the workers threw down their tools at the behest of absent mine officials. In both a very considerable number, possibly 60 percent, of the men remained at work while many of those who quit did so through intimidation and fear of bodily injury by the radical element among the strikers.

Agitators from the outside flocked into the Mingo field and incited the strikers to deeds of violence, culminating in the armed march intended "to upset martial law" which the governor of West Virginia had declared with a view of maintaining order in the affected district. Only through the courageous action of the Sheriff Don Chaffin of Logan county, his deputies, and the state police, was the raid stopped and the revolutionists held in check until the federal troops arrived on the scene.

Fortunately and happily no such occurrences took place in the Connellsville region, for the absence of which the public must thank Sheriff Shaw, his deputies, and the state police who maintained vigilant watch upon the situation from the inception of the strike until its final failure. The strike was not, however, without evidence of desire on part of the visiting radicals to foment trouble, nor yet without flagrant disregard of the law, chiefly manifested through insults and intimidation of men who sought to exercise their right to work.

The Mingo strike, which dated from July, 1920, was prolonged for more than a year after all possibility of winning it had ceased and all the men had returned to work or left the district except those who continued to live in tent colonies on the rather meager allowances received as strike benefits. In the Connellsville region the conditions have been similar, a comparatively small part of the men who went out on strike in April still refusing to go to work. By their idleness and persistence in living in tents or barracks they are subjecting themselves and families to discomforts and hardships which will become increasingly severe when winter sets in.

Obstinately refusing to admit that the strike, so far as the coke region is concerned, was lost from the very beginning, these men also refuse to go to work until permission to do so has been given by the national officers of the union to which they are giving allegiance in preference to providing adequate support and the necessary bodily comforts for their families.

The winning of the strike in the coke region being even more hopeless than winning the Mingo strike, it is sheer folly for the men in the tent colonies to continue to persist in the fiction that the strike can be won by a few hundred men refraining from going to work. Under the circumstances it is taking an unfair advantage of men already deluded into making the sacrifice of seven months' earnings for the union officials to discriminate in favor of the Mingo strikers by telling them to go to work while the same privilege is withheld from the strikers in the Connellsville region.

The miners are much entitled to a square deal from the union officials as the former failing to receive it may ought to have the good sense to cease being longer-doped into making sacrifices that will avail nothing except continued and increasing deprivation for themselves and families.

Never too late to do good. For instance: Sending a check for your Red Cross membership renewal if you were missed by the solicitors on Sunday afternoon.

How heartless of the state police to break up so many "quiet social evenings" among the bibulously inclined visitors at the county capital on Saturday evening!

Deferring action on tax exactions is always in order. At least that is what the other taxpayers think about it.

BLIND MAN "SEES" WITH NOSE

Making Up for the Loss of Sight, Nature Increases Power of the Olfactory Organs

A blind man can "see with his nose" so, at least, writes a blind man who has made a study of his own faculties and those of his companions in dark news.

"The sense of smelling among the blind," he says, "grows exceedingly sharp, and we utilize it instinctively for our purposes for which the normal man naturally uses his eyes. The smell, in particular helps us in orienting sense of locality and enables us in a region in which we are at home, to find the way as easily and surely as if we could see the world around us with our eyes. It is relatively easy for the nose as there are no two streets that have the same odor.

Not only has each street its particular odor, but also the various parts of the same street may each have its characteristic smell and the blind man knows in a street through which he often comes where he is. For the recognition of human beings the sense of smell is likewise invaluable. Besides the special smells of cigars or perfumes there are many delicate scents by which he can recognize men. Every material of cloth has a definite odor and with a little experience the blind man can "see with his nose" whether one wears wool silk or velvet."

Postmaster Collins Wants Christmas Shipping Done Early

Postmaster J H Collins again makes an appeal to the patrons of the postal service to co their Christmas shipping early. The mail for the past week has been very heavy and makes it necessary for the employees of the post office to work overtime. It will get much later as Christmas draws nearer the postmaster says and for that reason he urges that persons sending our Christmas packages do so early and avoid the rush.

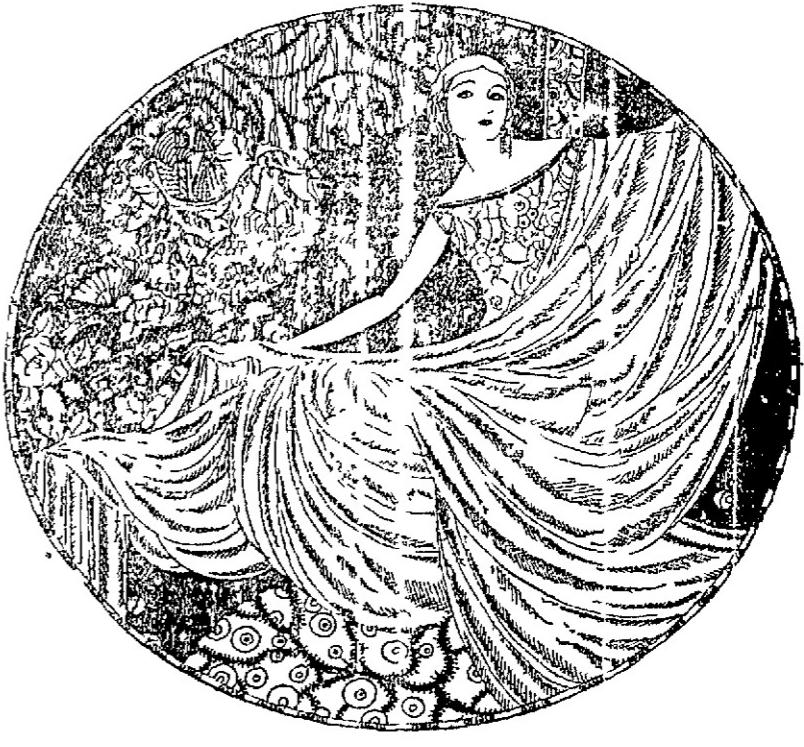

Labels should be wrapped well and both a forwarding and return address on it. If it is sent to its destination if the contents of the package are fragile or likely to be broken in some manner "perishable" must be marked on the wrapper.

THE SOISSON.

"SKIN DEEP," the feature attraction today and tomorrow at this theatre, presents Milton Sills and Florence Vidor and other screen favorites in interesting roles. In "Skin Deep," Thomas T. Ince has secured the combination that makes for sure success and insures box office receipts—a good story unfolded by an able cast. Headed by Miss Vidor and Mr. Sills, the cast of "Skin Deep" is consistent in its good quality throughout. The woman's lead is played by Florence Vidor, as the beautiful, wholesomeness nurse girl whose love is one of the greatest factors in bringing about the reform of an escaped convict. Miss Vidor, rightly characterized as "the unforgettable woman" by an authoritative art critic, is destined to be known as one of the most beautiful women on the screen. Her charm and grace in "Skin Deep" carries her right into the heart of the audiences. The principal role, the crook whose outlook on life undergoes a complete change following the remoulding of his features by a skilled plastic surgeon, is played by Milton Sills. Mr. Sills is one of the most convincing and natural actors of crook parts that the screen has seen. Nothing overdone, nothing underdone. He's got the crook's ways and mannerism, gestures, and facial expressions down to where—well, it's just real perfection that will send a thrill of appreciation over the audiences.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday "In the Name of the Law," will be shown.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"FORTUNE'S MASKS," with Earle Williams in the stellar role, is the leading attraction today at this theatre. There is action, atmosphere, mystery, and every other point of appeal in "Fortune's Mask." Seldom, if ever, is such on all around combination gathered together. The interest of the spectator is around with the first mask of the picture. This shows the assassination of the good President O'Hara by his cabinet minister Losse. Then follows a lapse of twenty years. Then the action starts with a startling.

An East-end matron got the shock of her life over the telephone the other day. The lady in question is extremely dignified, and conducts her whole life in keeping with a calm stateliness that is increasing with the whitening of her hair. In her quiet, slow, perfectly self-possessed manner and tone of voice she called the Pennsylvania station, requested "Information," and from the person at the other end of the wire inquired concerning trains to a certain town. Imagine her emotions when said voice slyly rasped out: "What time of the day do you want to go, girlie?" Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

ABILITIES THAT ARE LATENT

Few Realize to the Fullst: Extent the Intellectual Powers They Have at Command.

How many times have you been forced to undertake some piece of work which you did not believe you could perform, only to find yourself agreeably surprised at the creditable way in which you finally accomplished it? You discovered latent abilities which only came to light through the driving force of necessity. There is no doubt we all have possibilities which we do not suspect. All that is needed to develop them is self-confidence and initiative.

Many people never succeed because they never try. They lack faith in themselves. The habit of saying "I can't" is an easy one to acquire, and it grows stronger with time, but it does not lead to accomplishment. It does not put our faculties to work to overcome the perplexities of the job which confronts us. Many people feel that unless they can solve some problem easily they lack the ability to do it at all. They do not realize that the performance of anything well while requires much hard work and hard thinking.

Don't allow yourself to become conceited or to get into an overconfident frame of mind in regard to your ability, but nevertheless, do not give up trying to achieve some goal until you have brought every faculty into play. If you concentrate strongly enough on the effort you will be surprised at the results—Exchange.

None of the Apple Goose to Westo. The thoroughness with which the apple is now washed and utilized by some manufacturers makes it comparable with the packing-house pig that leaves only a little squeal. In many of the apple-packing factories the apples are first pressed to produce cider, which may be sold as such or may be manufactured into vinegar. After thorough pressing the pomace is treated with hot water to remove the pectin, which, after precipitation, is sold in either liquid or solid form to manufacturers of jellies and similar products and to housewives. The much-wasted and squeezed residue is dried, ground and sold as cattle feed—Department of Agriculture Bulletin.

FIREMEN MEET TONIGHT

SOUTH CONNELLSVILLE, Nov. 21.—Employers of the Capstan Glass Company met together a few days ago and organized a bowling league. The league consists of nine teams: Office Force, Packing Department, Shipping Department, Mould Shop, Machine Shop, Factory A, Factory B, Factory C, and Cooper Shop.

The West Penn Alleys will be used on Tuesday and Thursday evenings of each week. The league will open tonight when the Office, Shop, Cooper and Packing teams will bowl. The schedule for the league is not complete.

The volunteer fire department will meet this evening at 8:30 o'clock in the club room. Every member of the department is requested to turn out to these meetings and help make them a success.

The Capstan Athletic Association will soon be reorganizing its basketball team for the coming season. The Capstan outfit will be managed by Charles Steering. Jessie Moorman will be captain.

D. T. H. S. Working like Trojans for Cokers Saturday

The Connellsville High School gridders are taking a new interest in the coming game with the Dunbar Township High School team. The strength of the Dunbarites has varied during the season and the Cokers are ready to meet the best the neighboring boys can show. The township team is being pointed for the Cokers and is working hard. Every member of the eleven desires to score on Connellsville even if it is defeated, which of course, is not a certainty.

The D. T. H. S. squad did not have a game last Saturday and for more than a week now has been drilling faithfully for Saturday's clash. Interviews in the school there is beginning to grow in proportion to the enthusiasm of those on the team. The Cokers did not have a game Saturday either; through cancellation, but the boys have had an easy time since Mozensen and Coach Wine has a stiff program mapped out for this week.

One of the biggest features of the game will be the cheering. Connellsville students will, for the second time this year, stand up against a loyal body of rooters and the Coker leaders are determined their cohorts shall not be "out-shouted." Dunbar Township scored in this line last season and the year previous and now the Cokers are preparing for a "whitewash."

TORNADO TEAM NOT
"LOADED" FOR ITS
CHARLEROI CONTEST

The Uniontown Morning Herald,
carrying a story of the Connellsville Tornadoes' victory over the Charleroi steers by a more decisive score than did Brownsville several weeks ago, attempts to detract the glory of the accomplishment by asserting that the Coker team was "loaded to the gills."
It also points out that Brownsville employed its second string backfield during the first half against Charleroi. It asserted that Connellsville was strengthened by Groggin, former State and West Virginia Wesleyan star; by the return of Bufano from State College; and by Fisher and Smeak of United.

The story may have the effect of misleading those not acquainted with the personnel of the Tornado team, but the shorts writer of the Uniontown newspaper is well aware that Smeak and Bufano have been regulars with the local Independents practically all season. Bufano never "returned from State College." He played with the Tornadoes last season and has been in practically every game this year.
Smeak, a Connellsville boy, played his first game more than a month ago against the Hill Toppers of Pittsburg and has since been out regularly for practice. Of the line-up which start-

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions for coughs. The reason is that pine contains a powerful expectorant—a great expectorant effect in smoothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose.

The "Pine" syrup combination of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, mix 2½ cups of fine, clean pine needles with 16 oz. of home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full prescription for three times the money. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The rough may be helped out of the membranes and loosened from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pine and Syrup combination stops it—safely and inexpensively. Splendid for bronchitis, asthma, hayfever, ordinary throat ailment.

Pine is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Northern pine extract, and has a decided taste of its own.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pine" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guarantee to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pine Co., Inc., Wayne, Ind.

A Buick Roadster Satisfies

The "Six," $1165; The "Six-Sport," $1625; The "Four," $865

For those who want the intimacy of the roadster design, Buick provides a completely satisfying selection of models, in appearance as well as in price. Business men find the six-cylinder, two-passenger roadster well suited both to the work day trips and to social motoring.

Equally fine for these, and at the same time luxurious in its appointments and smart in its snappy lines and coloring is the six-cylinder sport-roadster—the de-luxe model of its kind.

While a modest, dependable and convenient car is the four-cylinder roadster. And all are Buicks with all that Buick provides in power, dependability and flawless performance.

The Buick Line for 1928 Comprises Fourteen Models
